Clerks Remind Floridians with Court-Ordered Financial Obligations: “We’re Here to Help”

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.— Florida’s Court Clerks and Comptrollers remind Floridians that reasonable payment plans are available for those who owe court-ordered financial obligations. Due to the economic downturn caused by prevention measures to curb the spread of the novel coronavirus (Covid-19), individuals may find themselves in trying financial circumstances. Florida’s Clerks of Court are committed to working with individuals to find the best repayment options to fit their circumstances.

“Floridians should not be afraid to talk to their Clerk about adjusting their payment plan, or agreeing on reasonable repayment terms during these trying times,” said Chris Hart IV, Chief Executive Officer of Florida Court Clerks & Comptrollers (FCCC). “Clerks are willing to help, but they depend on individuals asking for the help they need. Otherwise, Clerks may not know someone is having trouble making payments.”

More information about how Clerks are responding to the Covid-19 emergency, along with a directory of County Clerks, is available at www.flclerks.com/page/covid-19.
